

Unbound

Marion Aunor

I see the light at the end of the city
It's calling me, it's telling me
To reach beyond the clouds
Right where the stars are

And I'm tired of all the voices
Telling me what I can and I cannot be
And I think that it's time I set and myself free

Play by the rules we've always been told
Keep you head down until you grow old
This not how I want my life to unfold
People look for a way to survive
Forget how it really feels to be alive
Now's the time to spread your wings
And let go
And I'm tired of all the voices
Telling me what I can and I cannot be
And I think that it's time I set and myself free

'Cause we were meant to lift up off the ground
Start an era, conquer new worlds found
And they might, they might
Try to take us down
But we won't, we won't
Let them stop us now
So make way
For the unbound
For the unbound
For the unbound
For the unbound

But I, I'm still young
Still a lot to learn
You tell me what need to know
But I've got to go crash and burn
On all my own now
But I'll be just fine
I will realize on my own time
What it really takes to fly,
To soar high up in the sky
I'll spread my wings and go

Unbound it's time
Just spread your wings
And just let go
Unbound it's time
Just spread your wings
And just let go
Unbound it's time
Just spread your wings
Unbound, let go
Unbound, let go

'Cause we were meant to lift up off the ground
Start an era, conquer new worlds found
And they might, they might

Try to take us down
But we won't, we won't
Let them stop us now
So make way
For the unbound
For the unbound
For the unbound
For the unbound