

Still Summer

Marit Bergman

Lying on green ground, flipping the pages
Caught in this moment
I don't mind not waking up
Listen to the sound
It's the war of the straycats
And radios playing lovers anthems we forgot

Well here it's still summer
Still lazy days and warm blue nights
Always summer
We can't make it last but we can try

Close your eyes now and remember this sunset
Fond of Manhattan
Painting the concrete castles bright yellow and red
We are in orbit, never to return

We will be hiding here with pillows over our heads

'Cause here it's still summer
Baby lets steal another day
Always summer
I would do anything it takes
Cheat or lie, borrow, beg
Anything to make this feeling stay

Well here it's still summer
Still lazy days and warm blue nights
Always summer
We can't make it last but we can try
Close your eyes now
Close your eyes
Close your eyes now
Baby, close your eyes