

I know that I'm getting distant
My mind moves a mile a minute
First I'm in, then move back
Think about what I lack over you Always the one overthinking Forgetting what hurts 'til it sinks in
And my heart, it's been stained What's a life without pain? Wish I knew

But all of us fall, and we're always getting back on our feet,
baby
Alone it feels strange, life is better with some company

Nobody knows what we're after
We make a beautiful disaster
They'll try boxing you up
Which will make you feel stuck and confused

But all of us fall, and we're always getting back on our feet,
baby
Alone it feels strange, life is better with some company
But all of us fall, and we're always getting back on our feet,
baby
Alone it feels strange, life is better with some company

Real love
I'm just searching for real love
I'm just searching for real love
Maybe it'll find me
Real love
I'm just searching for real love
I'm just searching for real love
Maybe it'll find me

But all of us fall, and we're always getting back on our feet,
baby
Alone it feels strange, life is better with some company
But all of us fall, and we're always getting back on our feet,
baby
Alone it feels strange, life is better with some company
