

Someone That's Better

Mark Ambor

They've been telling me that it's okay
Tryna fix the feelings I can't change
I'd like to still love ya
But something just didn't feel right

I wish I had a reason you could see
'Cause hearing goodbye must have felt extreme
Damn it, I'm sad
'Cause you used to see my happiest side

Every day is like
Is that your friend or have you moved on?
Am I the ex you tell him is gone?
The crying makes my head hurt
'Cause it sucks to know you'll find someone that's better

Your friends will probably say it all makes sense
It's funny how a bitter start can lead you to a better end
Rationally, I can understand the sentiment
But your pictures, they find me and haunt me to death

Is that your friend or have you moved on?
Am I the ex you tell him is gone?
The crying makes my head hurt
'Cause it sucks to know you'll find someone that
Feels more at home in your living room
Can't have it all and I can't have you
But pain is hard to measure
And it sucks to know you'll find someone that's better

Or will you moved on?
Am I the ex that's gone?
The crying makes my head hurt
'Cause you'll find someone that's better
Or you'll find someone that's better that
Feels more at home in your living room
I can't have it all and I can't have you
But pain is hard to measure
And it sucks to know you'll find someone that's better