

Familiar Face

Mark Lind

Woke up to that familiar face again
That desperate feelings back again
It seems to me that I'll never win
It's a constant battle till the end
A little heartache, a little pain
Woke up to that familiar face again

And I cry out loud
And I cry out loud

I came up a dollar short again
I showed up to work late again
What did I look by?
Is there hope my friend?
Are we all working towards an end?

And I cry out loud (she keeps on coming back)
Somebody save me tonight
And I cry out loud (she keeps on coming back)

Woke up to that familiar face again
That desperate feelings back again
What all salvation needs, a combination
Woke up to that familiar face

And I cry out loud (she keeps on coming back)
Somebody save me tonight
And I cry out loud (she keeps on coming back)

And I cry out loud (she keeps on coming back)
Somebody save me tonight
And I cry out loud (she keeps on coming back)

Somebody save me tonight