

I grew up in a home where emotion means nothing
When your heart is a stone and feel numb to it beating
Mommy taught me to marry a man for his money
Daddy taught me never rely on anybody

I was so confused about my point of view
I didn't know the truth until I met you

And everything was okay
Everything is a-okay
Find someone who thinks the same
And makes you feel okay

I was told he was unmotivated and lazy
But I'd be rather happy together than crazy
"If you can choose who to love
Then take the money and run
Little girl, little girl
Remember A = A
You don't need his love anyway
Oh, little girl"

I was so confused about my point of view
I didn't know the truth until I met you

And everything was okay
Everything is a-okay
Find someone who thinks the same
And makes you feel okay
