

Everything Turns To Gold

Mars Argo

She opened up her body
When the man was waiting
The medicine was failing
There was not a way she could say no

The scenery was shady
Was she thinking maybe
No one had a way to cut her down

And now she's in the corner crying
But I can see her sad song shining
And everything around her turns to gold

She opened up her body
The stranger said
"I'm sorry, I know that you've been dreaming
But I have to take away your love now."

I imagine he was angry
Maybe he was crazy
Maybe I'm amazed by what he did

And now she's in the corner crying
But I can see her sad song shining
And everything around her turns to gold

She opened up her body
And woke up with a feeling
That something might be missing
She was coming back so fast now

The medicine was fading
It couldn't keep her guessing
I can understand why she fell down

And now she's in the corner crying
But I can see her sad song shining
And everything around her turns to gold