

Spider In My Bathtub

Mars Argo

Butterflies awake me from my sleep
And the tiles sting like ice beneath my feet
My dress is slipping past my knees
And a memory of you is all I need

There's a spider in my bathtub
She looks like me
And she's crawling to the ceiling
And I'm waiting patiently
For the telephone to ring
And I'm relatively lonely here
And I feel a little warm
And I wonder if you'll take me there
Can you take me there?
When I think about your touch
I feel completely insane

When I close my eyes my heart begins to race
And I think about your lips and how they taste

There's a spider in my bathtub
She looks like me
And she's crawling to the ceiling
And I'm waiting patiently
For the telephone to ring
And I'm relatively lonely here
And I feel a little warm
And I wonder if you'll take me there
Can you take me there?
When I think about your touch
I feel completely insane

For the telephone to ring
And I'm relatively lonely here
And I feel a little warm
And I wonder if you'll take me there
(You're the only one who ever touched me)

For the telephone to ring
And I'm relatively lonely here
And I feel a little warm
And I wonder if you'll take me...
(You're the only one who ever touched me)
