

Tired Today

Mars Argo

Why am I so tired today?
I don't have a reason to feel this way today
I'm so sore
I wish I had a reason
To sell my things and close the door

The door, the door

The ultimate hypochondriac
You are the only person in the world who you think about
And it is starting to get the best of you
Am I running away from the problems
Or towards the result?
I never understood running in place
But maybe that is the answer
Maybe it's been in front of me all this time
And I just couldn't see it under my selfish chin
Maybe I am the thing in the simulation
Maybe, yes, that must be it
Maybe I am simple and infinite nothing

I'm feeling so tired today in my human body
I think I'll put myself to sleep