

Right Beside You

Martin Harich

I've been driving along the coastline
Just watching colors around me
Sixty miles along the coastline
I felt free

I stopped at fancy coffee shop
Where people posting cheesecakes as their stories
Pretending they don't need a lot
Just for a while without their worries

They're desires behind the windows
They are people behind those screens
I always wanted to add some colours
To the places of my dreams ...

But I don't know how
And I don't know why
Sometimes it looks cool but baby I am just trying
Cause you never know
Who's watching you

Maybe that person you're trying to find is right beside you
Maybe that distance is not so far
So kiss your mama - take your daddy's scars
Maybe those mistakes could be worse
Am I right or wrong !? Probably both .

I read a book about happiness
It made myself a bit more sad
To make myself a bit more sad
Feeding those hamsters inside my head
They're desires behind the windows.
