

Raindrops

Martin Jondo

raindrops pouring down my window and they remind me of teardrops I shed on my pillow I said raindrops pouring down my window
and they remind me of teardrops I shed on my pillow that morning when I woke up it was raining cats and dogs the sky was covered so grew and I knew something was wrong but I couldn't couldn't figure it out what depressed my little little soul Lord until I got that message which was freezing my blood and soul heh she was up up and gone with a brother brother though she told she woulda never never never never never but the time has told the truth and I'm the stupid fool who feels blue heh

I said raindrops pouring down my window

the tide was high, the tide was low some nights I was lonely some nights I was in love the seasons they oh they passed by still I felt we're living just a dirty dirty lie but we kept it on that hurtful game Lord it was a shame, a shame, a shame 'cause we were young young to see that the things we wanted that they couldn't be and our untouchable love now it was gone gone gone gone away you were grabbing for more and I was playing the fool again and..

I said raindrops pouring down my window
and they remind me of teardrops I shed on my pillow so I shed tears and tears and tears and they passed by the years the years until I heard a heavenly call to let go everything and just fall fall fall into love with loneliness which coulda never hurt me as bad as bad as all the years that we've been through darlin I am go no more I love you

and they remind me of teardrops I shed on my pillow
I said raindrops pouring down my window
