

Ten Million Miles

Martin Jondo

Any time I can't see you I don't feel fine
Any time I spot a rainbow
I find teardrops in my soul and mind 'cause
'cause you rule my destiny
You are the one who can set me free
Any time when my blood is running because of fear
My heart could be so save yeah
If you could be here
Just to dry all my tears
To make me strong to overcome my fears

So I am running yes I am running into my soul
'cause this is the only way I can go which I can go
I am running yes running into my soul
'cause this is the only way I can go

Ten million miles deep in my soul
Ten million miles deep in my soul

Oh it's so eerie to feel more than words can express
And I'm so tired
I need a place where I can rest
But if I'm on my way I see you also can't stay
So could I ever reach my hope
'cause I can't catch it with no rope
And my feelings predicting I will fail
'cause I am bound in this ya jail
In this jail
Feelings predicting I will fail
'cause I am bound I am bound in this jail

So I am running yes I am running into my soul
'cause this is the only way I can go which I can go
I am running yes I am running into my soul
'cause this is the only way I can go

Ten million miles deep in my soul
Ten million miles deep in my soul
Ten million miles deep in my soul
Ten million miles