

Someone Like You

Martina Balogová

Funny how it took a blind date to make me see.

The movie show was kinda show,
but somehow we didn't care,
'Cause we had only eyes for love.
We felt it in the air.
Your sweet might kept, kept it all.
It was getting kinda late.
Your etchings were invisible,
Your coffe had to wait.

For someone like you could get into my heart.
What could I do? I was lost from the start.
Someone like you could lead me astray.
I somehow knew there'd be someone ...

The candlelight fired our romance,
or the wine it made us bold.
We feasted on oblivion
as passion touched our souls.
Your kisses really sealed my fate,
all those tender things you do.
Never thought I'd fall this way.
At last, someone like you.

Someone like you could get into my heart.
What could I do? I was lost from the start.
Someone like you could lead me astray.
But tonight it's all right, I will give up the fight.
Love came right on through
