

Another Day Has Gone By

Marty Robbins

You wake up in the mornin'
And before you can realize
Another day has passed you by
You get your poor heart broke
And before you can turn around
The evenin' sun has just gone down

It seems like it's this way most every day
Why fight it, you can't save it
You seem to throw time away
It seems like it's this way most every day
Why fight it, you can't save it
You seem to throw time away

It seems like time stands still
And before you can tell
It seems to start right back again
Take notice and you'll see
Time is closin' in on me
It's almost time to say goodbye

It seems like it's this way most every day
Why fight it, you can't save it
You seem to throw time away