

I Pay With Every Breath

Marty Robbins

Here am I so sad and lonely
Who was I to seal my fate
She trusted me and I deceived her
Now I pay with every breath I take

I played around with fate and I'm sorry
I'm sorry but what good does it do
I broke her heart into I brought her sorrow
But I never thought she'd find somebody new

But now I know how much I miss her
Now I care but it's too late
She's gone and now that tears are falling
And I pay with every breath I take
