

I Want Someone To Love

Marty Robbins

I want someone to love but not someone like you
I want to be happy, not broken, not blue
I want sunshine and laughter to mix with the tears
Not heartaches and sadness the rest of my years

I want all of the things that goes with true love
Sunshine and laughter, the moon up above
If I let my heart go I know what it would do
I want someone to love but not someone like you

I want love and devotion to go with the years
Not heartaches and sadness, followed with tears
A lovelight to guide me when I'm feeling blue
I want someone to love but not someone like you
