

Just In Time

Marty Robbins

Tomorrow I'll be married tomorrow you'll be blue
Tomorrow you'll just sit and cry the way I used to do
Tomorrow you'll be lonesome you'll sit alone and wait
You came back just in time old friend in time to be too late

I waited for your letters but you would never write
I waited by my window watching for you day and night
But that all happened yesterday and my heart holds no hate
You came back just in time old friend in time to be too late

You're invited to my wedding now don't forget to come
And see how wrong you were when you thought you could fool around
Tomorrow there'll be teardrops but I will understand
I'll see you crying when I place my ring upon her hand

You've no right to be angry the fault is all your own
You wouldn't even write to me you wouldn't even phone
But sometimes there'll be better days for them you'll have to wait
You came back just in time old friend in time to be too late
