

Las Vegas, Nevada

Marty Robbins

Las Vegas Nevada
City of music and laughter, city of lights
Las Vegas, I didn't know I would lose Betty Jo
In the noise of your night
Las Vegas, where is the warmness and kindness
That you used to show
Las Vegas, you're changing, you're growing so cold
You're so different
It started, Las Vegas, the moment you took Betty Jo

Now in Las Vegas, in one of the largest casinos
Betty Jo dances while music is playing so loud
There's such a strangeness in eyes that I knew
She never sees me, I'm only a face in the crowd

Las Vegas Nevada
What happens now I'm completely out of her life
Las Vegas, before you stepped in I had kinda
Made plans to make Betty my wife
Las Vegas, I can't compete with the Thrill and excitement you show
Completely forgotten by one I will always remember
Goodbye to Las Vegas, goodbye to my sweet Betty Jo

Goodbye to Las Vegas, goodbye to my sweet Betty Jo
