There's No More You and Me

Marty Robbins

There's no more you and me
There's just a memory
A sometimes, now and then
Is all we shared
He's still a part of you
Wish I had the power to
Give back the smile to me
He took away

And then there could be
Another you and me
Maybe then your eyes would be
Filled with only me again
There's no more you and me
There's just a memory
I'm hurt, but still I see
There's no more you and me

And then there could be
Another you and me
Maybe then your eyes would be
Filled with only me again
There's no more you and me
There's just a memory
I'm hurt, but now I see
There's no more you and me

There's no more you and me
