

Amsterdam

Mary Gauthier

Bicycle bells on Rembrandt Street, Spanish shoes on a stranger's feet

Newsboy caps, old Dutchmen, an alley cat with a Cheshire grin

Sailor's bars, old cafe's, cobblestone carriageways

Kisses in the summer rain, falling back in love again

All right, feeling all right in Amsterdam tonight

All right, feeling all right in Amsterdam, Amsterdam tonight

Rocking horse carousels, calliopes, cathedral bells

Hyacinths and daffodils, tulips in the windowsills

It's been a heartbreak year, I'm so glad to be back here

Walking these old streets with you, wide awake, a dream come true

All right, feeling all right in Amsterdam tonight

All right, feeling all right in Amsterdam, Amsterdam tonight

Moonlight on the marble stairs, windows open to the square

Late night coffee, gingerbread, cotton sheets, a king-sized bed

None of this is gonna last all of it is gonna to pass

But I look into your eyes and see I've got everything I'll ever need

All right, feeling all right in Amsterdam tonight

All right, feeling all right in Amsterdam, Amsterdam

All right, feeling all right in Amsterdam tonight

All right, feeling all right in Amsterdam, Amsterdam

All right, feeling all right in Amsterdam, Amsterdam tonight
