Follow

Mary J. Blige

I don't know who you are But I clocked you from afar And the kids on the streets said you're getting it from me

You think you can kick the sand in my eyes But you should walk a little softer I hear you coming from a mile away And you don't have enough to offer Don't waste your time, playing with my mind Or you'll regret it I write the rules, for shame on you You won't forget it

You just follow, follow, follow But tomorrow, morrow, morrow When you're hollow, hollow, hollow You'll be sad and all alone Sad and all alone Follow, follow, follow But tomorrow, morrow, morrow When the thrill is all that You'll be sad and all alone Sad and all alone

You can try to disguise But you know deep in your heart They can see in your eyes That you're vacant in your heart

You think you can kick the sand in my eyes But you should walk a little softer I hear you coming from a mile away And you don't have enough to offer Don't waste your time, playing with my mind Or you'll regret it I write the rules, for shame on you You won't forget it

You just follow, follow, follow But tomorrow, morrow, morrow When you're hollow, hollow, hollow You'll be sad and all alone Sad and all alone Follow, follow, follow But tomorrow, morrow, morrow When the thrill is all that You'll be sad and all alone Sad and all alone

Give it all or give it nothing Give it love or give it up (12x)