

It's Too Soon (To Let Our Love End)

Mary MacGregor

Well, you've got your problems, your growing pains
But don't drive me away like the wind drives the rain
You can't always float easy, like a cloud up above
And it's so damned easy now to hurt the one you love, my love

You've got your problems and who knows why
You might feel better if you let yourself cry
I just want to help you, but you're on your own
'Cause you tell me all you really need is being alone, alone

Take your time and find out who you are
Take your time, don't push yourself so hard
We both need the comfort of a loving friend
And it's too soon to let our love end

Growin' ain't easy, what they say is true
Before you love another, well, you've got to love you
But I still get those feelings from the stars up above
Life would be lonely without someone to love, my love

Take your time and find out who you are
Take your time, don't push yourself so hard
We both need the comfort of a loving friend
(We need a loving friend)
And it's too soon to let our love end
(It's too soon to let our love end)
Oh, it's too soon to let our love end
(It's too soon to let our love end)
Ah, it's too soon to let our love end
