

Can't You See (you're Losing Me)

Mary Wells

(Baby, honey)

Can't you see you're losing me?

I can't take this misery that you're dishing out to me

The confidence I had in you is gone 'cause you've been untrue

Baby, please, can't you see you're gonna lose me?

Can't you see, can't you see, can't you see you're gonna lose me?

Tears I cried, tears I hide

Your other love I know of

She's pretty, I must confess, but for you will she do her best?

Will she give you a love that's true, one truer than I gave to you?

Baby, please, why don't you come on & see about me?

'Cause I can't stand this misery that you're dishin' out to me

Baby, honey

I can't stand this awful pain that's runnin' through my heart

It's tearin' me apart

Come on & ease the pain; it's drivin' me insane

Baby, please, can't you see you're gonna lose me?

Hey baby, ooo honey

Can't you see, can't you see, can't you see you're gonna lose me?

Can't you see, can't you see, can't you see you're gonna lose me?

I miss a bunch of memories; come on & see about me

Can't you see, can't you see, can't you see
