

Dream a Little Dream

Masked Intruder

Dream of me for once, you know I always dream of you. It's only fair that you should do your part. Keep me on your mind as you lay down and close your eyes, dream a little dream and change your heart

Drift away to me under a twinkling sea of stars. Float across the sleeping city streets. Maybe if you dream it sweet enough, when you wake up you won't think I'm a creep
You could be a princess, baby, I could be your prince. We could ride a unicorn across the sky

Or, just imagine me as if I weren't "as creepy as it gets". Then, hold that thought as you open your eyes. Just hold that thought as you open your eyes

Wake up wanting me. I will be waiting for you, girl. Run to me and say that you were wrong. Tell me all about how you found out in a dream it seems I was right for you all along
And maybe if you dream it sweet enough, when you wake up you'll be in love with me
