

Hallescrewya

Massive Wagons

Hallescrewya, halle, ya

Hello, hello, where have you gone?
You looked like you'd like it, but you left in a song
You'd obviously paid, I mean, I wish you'd have stayed
But the lovers are here, and the show must go on Did we not scream enough? Was there not enough cool?
Did the people around you make you feel like a fool?
Was it catching your bus, was it just time to blow?
Was it the best show on earth? I guess you really don't know

This one goes out to the man who left the show
He doesn't know, but we know

Hallescrewya
We're taking all of the notes, and the words that we wrote
And arrange 'em so people care

Hello, hello, just after you'd gone
It was beers on the house as long as we'd play the songs
We poured out in the streets, conga'd around the town
You lit Dover on fire, we're burning it down
It was dig of the year, it was over the top
It was welcome back home, it's why we love you a lot
But you weren't there to see, you'd gone home to your bed
It was the best show on earth, do you hear what I said?

He doesn't know, but we know

Hallescrewya
We're taking all of the notes, and the words that we wrote
And arrange 'em so people care

Hallescrewya
We make agreeable sounds for the lost and the found
And I'm trying my best not to swear

He doesn't know, but we know

Hallescrewya
We're taking all of the notes, and the words that we wrote
And arrange 'em so people care

Hallescrewya
We make agreeable sounds for the lost and the found
And I'm trying my best not to swear

Hallescrewya
We're taking all of the notes, and the words that we wrote
And arrange 'em so people care

Hallescrewya
We make agreeable sounds for the lost and the found
And I'm trying my best not to swear

Hallescrewya (hello, hello)
Hallescrewya (hello, hello)
Hallescrewya (who was at the show? I don't know)
Hallescrewya (but we know)
But we know
