

Red Alert

Master

The corporate decisions are based on religion, it's time for a recall

To obtain the objective we must be selective or the empire will fall

Social injustice revolving all around us we're all in denial

The senseless deception makes no connections we're about to fail

Relentless tales so misconcerned

The world is trapped inside it's own illusion

Defenseless so often so subdued

It's time to justify our own conclusions

Millions of machines on red alert

Will the people get what they deserve

The pawns of the impending symphony

The weapons of destruction will be freed
