

Heart Of Gold

"I'm filled with chemicals, it's getting old
I'm cutting close to try to fit a mold
I've getting tired of being on my own
Man I swear that I never thought I'd live this down
Man I swear that I never thought I'd live this down."

"I've got this heart of gold, but down it goes
My mind is growing cold and my family knows
I'm getting tired of standing on my toes. But who knows?
Man I swear that I never thought I'd live this down
Man I swear that I never thought I'd live this down."

I wrote a letter back home, for a friend I know
Carved in stone for family's heads to hold
They're probably tired of being on their own
But who knows?

"Man I swear that I never thought I'd live this down
And man I swear that I never thought I'd live this down."
