

I'm at a loss, caught in a loop
It's not what you say, it's just all that you do
I don't need the world, just something new Everyone says, "Jump in the sea"
So many fish, oh, then why can't I breathe?
They're all the same, just not for me

I don't like predictable, I swear I've done it all before

It's nice
Nice just ain't my type
So don't waste your time
Nice just ain't my type

Don't need a room with roses in bloom
I just need daisies and light from the moon
But you'll still forget like you always do
The bar ain't that high, it's really not far
Do you want a sticker? Do you want a star
For holding the door? Who wouldn't want more

I don't like predictable, I swear I've done it all before

It's nice
Nice just ain't my type
So don't waste your time
Nice just ain't my type

(One, two three, four)
Not sure what else to say, I've heard it all today
Go take your niceness, please, and shove it where the Sun can't see
I know your repertoire, you think you've nailed the art
Of getting through the day with nothing interesting to say

And I don't like predictable, I swear I've done it all before

It's nice
Nice just ain't my type
So don't waste your time
Nice just ain't my type
