

Driftin'

Matisyahu

Expansive soul with my wings in the air
Try to fit a circle in the square
All this talk about my look, who cares
Shallow minds just got to surface

Sixteen I knew my purpose
Further my instincts, make music
Or walk a tight rope in the circus
You say my eyes make you nervous

Late night swerving, switching
Where the lights get low
Lower than the lowest low
Lower than where the sun go
My approach to let go, let love flow
To the drums and the symbols

Watch the clouds rolls in
And the fog liftin'
Watch the waves crash in
I'm a driftin'
Wishing on a star
Make yourself into the man that you always knew you were
When the light seems so far
Watch the clouds rolls in
And the fog liftin'
Watch the waves crash in
I'm a driftin'
Wishing on a star
Make yourself into the man that you always knew you were
When the light seems so far

Watch the clouds rolls in
Watch the fog liftin'
Watch the waves crash in
And the wood drift in
I'm riffin'
Wishing on a star
Making yourself into what you always are

When the day glows and the night knows all secrets
The strange places we visit
Past is so many spaces
Covering in all of the phases in my rotation
Stole away all my calculations
Too many invasions on my relationships pass by
Don't waste my time, with pastime my past time is past time past lies and past crimes, They passed out
Walking on so many roads I take my time right now
After the rain, after the rain, after the hurricane Cruising up the interstate, early for the party
With the chapstick on my lips, as I sip some tea
On the L.I.E across nyc

Watch the clouds rolls in
And the fog liftin'
Watch the waves crash in

I'm a driftin'
Wishing on a star
Make yourself into the man that you always knew you were
When the light seems so far

Watch the clouds rolls in
And the fog liftin'
Watch the waves crash in
I'm a driftin'
Wishing on a star
Make yourself into the man that you always knew you were
When the light seems so far
