

You'll Never Know

Matt Bianco

I lie awake and watch the day break
See the dawn across the sky
Were we only ships just passing in the night

I tell myself I'm going crazy
For looking back but I don't care
Cause in my heart I get the feeling you'll be there
You'll be there

You'll never know, never know, never know
You'll never know, never know, never know

I've always hoped that I would see you
When you look up to the stars
Do you ever think about me where you are

And is it better I don't find you
Could it ever be the same
Maybe destiny will bring us back one day
One day

You'll never know, never know, never know
You'll never know, never know, never know

You'll never know, never know, never know
You'll never know, never know, never know

You'll never know, never know, never know
You'll never know, never know, never know

You'll never know, you'll never...

You'll never know, never know, never know
You'll never know, never know, never know
You'll never know, never know, never know
You'll never know, never know, never know
