

Elements

Matt Corby

Well if you sing that song for yesterday
You'll find it's only just a tear away
And when there's nothing left for you to say, the silence
It takes over your mind
It hits you when it's right
Just give it one more try

All the things I do have an element of you
Rearranged to feel like something new
And all the things I say are just echoes anyway
Someone said it all just yesterday

We keep changing all the time, don't hide it
We're disconnected out of mind
If your fantasies are overdue, the silence
Takes over your mind
It hits you and it's right
Just give it one more try

All the things I do have an element of you
Rearranged to feel like something new
And all the things I say are just echoes anyway
Someone said it all just yesterday

I remember the fighter in me
I won't forget it easily
You uncover the lover in me
You hold it in your memory

I remember the fighter in me
I won't forget it easily
Oh you uncover the lover in me
You hold it in your memory