

Sky Full Of Tears

Matt Costa

Don't you forget what you have at home
You've got someone who cares
Chasing your dreams down the rabbit hole
You could be facing a sky full of tears

Do you recall on that Paris street
We bought coats in the rain
You were the one who lit up his eyes
Now that all seems a lifetime away

Now all your love flies like bats in the sky
Over an October night
Now all your love turns to question the sky
Flying over all the years

But once your love flew
Like doves in the blue
Over a midsummer day
You laughed as you rode
In boats down canals
Then you rang in the new year and held
Each other close

As you whispered in bed
And time seemed to hang on the fog
With one light on in a hotel room
Surrendering all of your love

Don't you forget what you have at home
You've got someone who cares
Chasing your dreams down the rabbit hole
You could be facing a sky full of tears

Sky full of tears
Sky full of tears
Sky full of tears

Sky full of tears
