

Rock N' Roll Heart

Matt Hires

I was born the other day
With a six gun in my veins
And I know oh, oh, oh, oh, we were born to sing

So I took off my disguise
Shook my head, opened up my eyes
To find an ocean inside my mind
I said oh, oh, oh, oh, I'm gonna bring it to life

I got a rock rock rock, rock and rollin' heart
And a steel, a steel guitar soul
And sometimes I think it's tearing me apart
I got a rock and roll heart and a steel guitar soul
I've got a rock and roll heart and a steel guitar soul

There's a girl I used to know
She was a'livin like a rolling stone
And she made a home on the open road

She had a song bird in her eyes
Her head was spinning like a 45
And she said "my home is where I sleep tonight
And I know I'm gonna be just fine"

She's got a rock rock rock, rock and rollin' heart
And a steel, a steel guitar soul
And she swears someday she's gonna be a star
With a rock and roll heart and a steel guitar soul
She's got a rock and roll heart and a steel guitar soul

Oh you know you can fake that smile
You're lying to yourself
You know you can walk that line
But we all have to bleed sometime
We all have to bleed sometime

I was born the other day
With a six gun in my veins
I was born the other day
With a six gun in my veins
I was born the other day
With a six gun in my veins

And I know oh, oh, oh, oh, we were born to sing
With these kick drum thumpin' rock and rollin' hearts
And these slow, sad steel guitar souls
Yeah, we may fall down, but we won't fall apart
With a rock and roll heart and a steel guitar soul
We've got these rock and roll hearts, and steel guitar souls
I've got a rock and roll heart and a steel guitar soul
I've got a rock and roll heart and a steel guitar soul
