Say, say anything
Your eyes tell all that you won't show
You won't show
The record's spinning while you dance with your temporary ghost
Your temporary ghost

Familiar words bid you farewell Your hands are empty and what you held Has left you here with Nothing but a name But a name

Say, say everything
I'll try to give you what you need
What you need
Falling, so much second-guessing
It hurts to watch you bleed
It hurts to watch you bleed

Oh you try to sing a different song So hard to know where it went wrong The faces change but pictures stay the same Stay the same

Hold your place when the words are on the wall and you can't find your fire ${\sf Escape}$

I'm running for you now so don't let go
And trees hang low and clouds suffocate the sun so you can see
Put a signal in the sky for me

Don't, don't say a thing 'cause darling oh I already know I already know
Yeah love is waiting this is all just a temporary ghost
A temporary ghost

Familiar words will greet you well Your hands will hold more than you held You'll see the sun shine when you hear your name When you hear your name

Hold your place when the words are on the wall and you can't find your fire ${\tt Escape}$

I'm running for you now so don't let go
And trees hang low and clouds suffocate the sun so you can see
Put a signal in the sky for me

Oh hold your place when the words are on the wall and you can't find your Fire escape $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) +\left(1$

I'm running for you now so don't let go
And trees hang low and clouds suffocate the sun so you can see
Put a signal in the sky for me
Put a signal in the sky for me
For me