

Melons

Matt Maeson

I think I saw you in the water in a weak spot
I think I saw you in the water when I detoxed
And the way you'd laugh when I'd put my cool on
And the way that I'd be laughing with you
And the sour taste of melon flavored cold ones
Brings back the nostalgia

So tell me if I pop my heart back in
And then
I tell myself I'm all caught up again
And then I'll bend

If I don't go I will be fine but I'll be awake
In the meantime, so I'll walk in soon as you be line
And I'll shuffle with the beat and the coke lines
I know that it hurts you, oh, I know I have a vicious love
Oh, but if I don't get aggressive
Oh, I'll just let go of everything I love

So tell me if I pop my heart back in
And then
I tell myself I'm all caught up again
And then I'll bend

Cause when I pull up on the street corner
But my brain don't fit inside
Cause when I pull up on the street corner
But my brain don't fit inside
Poor some
Woo, run
Poor some
Woo, run

So tell me if I pop my heart back in
And then
I tell myself I'm all caught up again
And then I'll bend