Cold

Matt Simons

Summertime, it was always a vibe
You and I in the heat of the night, drinkin'
Tequila and lime with you on the side, thinkin'
This is the life, just as long as you're mine

From making love to making you mad
To pickin' fights in the back of a cab, when We start shit then we're takin' it back and
Just like that, I was makin' you laugh

Now, I can't even get a reaction
I can feel you pushin' away, what,
Happened to the love and passion we had?

And when did you get so cold?
When did we lose that heat?
I'm waitin' till you come home
And every time
I'm thinking you might
I'm losing my mind alone
Don't tell me I'm all you need
When you lie next to me
'Cause every night
You put me on ice

Oh, when did you get so, cold?
When did you get so, cold?
When did you get so...

Over it, I'm the enemy
We go to bed and we don't even speak, what
This is it, I can take it or leave us
Stick around and just hope you don't freeze us

But I can't even get a reaction
I can feel you pushin' away, what,
Happened to the love and passion we had?

And when did you get so cold?
When did we lose that heat?
I'm waitin' till you come home
And every time
I'm thinking you might
I'm losing my mind alone
Don't tell me I'm all you need
When you lie next to me
'Cause every night
You put me on ice

Oh, when did you get so cold?
When did we lose that heat?
I'm waitin' till you come home
And every time
I'm thinking you might
I'm losing my mind alone
Don't tell me I'm all you need
When you lie next to me

'Cause every night
You put me on ice

Oh, when did you get so, cold?
When did you get so, cold?
When did you get so, cold?
When did you get so, cold?

When did you get so cold?
When did you get so cold?
When did you get so cold?
