

Damn Good Life

Matt Simons

If I bring cold to the wintertime
What can warm me from the inside, make me believe
Make me believe it?
If I cry when it's already raining
I don't know how I'll face it
It's make-believe, make 'em believe it

Hey, I'm already crazy
Maybe there's a few loose screws in my memory
I'm my own worst enemy
When I feel like I'm fading lately
Baby, you're right there reminding me

If you're low on serotonin
The sun in California
Will do the lifting for ya
You know
It's a damn good life
And even if it's pouring
There's friends that you adore
And they keep telling me, telling me, telling me, telling me
"It's a damn good life"

It's a damn good life
It's a damn good life

I think I might drown in the Internet
Can't leave yeah I'm stuck in it
Don't blink 'cause it's happening right now
Fuck me when I live in it
I'm bringing salt to the ocean
I'm in perpetual motion
I'm just tryna change my POV
'Cause they hung up on the old me

Hey, I'm already crazy
Maybe there's a few loose screws in my energy
I'm my own worst enemy
When I feel like I'm fading lately
Baby, you're right there reminding me

If you're low on serotonin
The sun in California
Will do the lifting for ya
You know
It's a damn good life
And even if it's pouring
There's friends that you adore
And they keep telling me, telling me, telling me, telling me
"It's a damn good life"

It's a damn good life
It's a damn good life

If I bring cold to the wintertime
What can warm me from the inside, make me believe?

Make me believe it?
Make me believe it?

If you're low on serotonin
The sun in California
Will do the lifting for ya
You know
It's a damn good life
And even if it's pouring
There's friends that you adore
And they keep telling me, telling me, telling me, telling me
"It's a damn good life"

It's a damn good life
It's a damn good life
