

It's Not Enough

Matt Simons

I'm a liar
I don't think about you the same way
You're an actress
Act like everything is ok
I'm a drifter
I've been drifting far enough to say
I'll be leaving
I'll be gone before the day

If this is still love here
The first love is the love that never dies
You're still shining
You've got diamonds in your eyes
Cut right through me
Deep within my soul I'm paralysed
I release you
You can be someone else's price

It's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough
It's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough
It's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough
It's not enough
For me

The darkness of the basement
My parent's basement where we used to love
We're so quiet
We can hear the footsteps up above
I feel your body
I can taste your breath inside my lungs
You're like fire
You're like fire on my tongue

It's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough
It's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough
It's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough, it's not enough
It's not enough
For me

I don't know myself without you
Afraid of the world might swallow me (ohh)
Starting over
No one here
Nowhere else to go
No excuses
Honestly there's something we both know
(Know...)

It's not enough
For me
