Matt Wertz

Recently, I've been drawn to the simple things
Like the sun on the window pane
How the light filters through

Slowly, waking from daydreams so peaceful
Wind whispers softly, so quiet
Like my name on your lips

I've spent my whole life
Wishing that things would just change
I never stayed in the same place
But something has shifted inside

Suddenly there's been space for the in-between
You and me on the front porch swing
Watching people walk by

I've spent my whole life
Wishing that things would just change
I never stayed in the same place
But something has shifted inside

Recently all
All that I know
Is all that I needed was you all along
Recently all
All that I know
Is all that I needed was you all along
Recently all that I know is
All that I needed my whole life was you
Recently all that I know is
All that I needed is at home with you

So we find ourselves right here just holding
Tight to the moments before they slip away
Leaf on the breeze
