

Peter Pan

Matt White

Save you some trouble, save you some time
The night's nearly over, I don't understand why you can't see the light
Stars may be blinkin, they're tellin me something
You've already got what you've always wanted
Baby, stop thinking

Let my star fix you there with some little repairs
All you need is love to spare with some little repairs
Let my star fix you there with some little repairs
All you need is love to spare with some little repairs

He's been a payload, and you need a grown up
He played too rough, he ripped your heart and you can be sought of Follow the leader, go where I take you
I want you to see, want you to believe your heart can be like new

Let my star fix you there with some little repairs
All you need is love to spare with some little repairs
Let my star fix you there with some little repairs
Let my star, let my star, let my star

Love me, I know I fill you up and take your heart and hold it up so much

Let my star fix you there with some little repairs
All you need is love to spare with some little repairs
Let my star fix you there with some little repairs
All you need is love to spare with some little repairs
