

All That Matters

Matthew Morrison

There are days when I feel so afraid
I can hardly remember to breathe
When reality crashes in wave after wave
Pulling me farther beneath

So what's the point in planning for a future
If it all can be stolen away?
It's all I can do to hold on and survive
When the colors have faded to gray
But my children need so much more from me
And they give me the strength to go on Whatever may come

All that matters now
Is where I go from here
There's an easier way if I live for today
The beating of my heart
Is all that matters

He makes sense of all of my chaos
In ways I could never explain
He turns all of my sadness into a smile
He's helping me live life again

It's the light in the eyes of my children
It's the sound of their laughter once more
It's a glimpse of a life I dared only to dream
And the dreamer that I could restore
And I know that some may not understand
But he's guiding me safely to shore
Not afraid anymore

All that matters now
Is where I go from here
There's an easier way if I live for today
The singing in my heart
Is all that matters
He takes me by the wing
There's an easier way if I live for today
The singing in my heart
Is all that matters