

Heaven Calling

Matthew Parker

I take a breath and let it out
I don't even know why I'm so tangled in doubt
I'm crashing down and burning out
And feeling oh so desperate for Something real, something that lasts
Something more than all these empty promises
These empty promises, oh

I keep my heart open
I keep my eyes looking to the sky
I keep my ears listening
'Cause I believe one day I will fly

I can hear heaven calling from the distance
Hold on I'm coming soon
I can hear heaven calling far beyond me
I wanna come home to You

I can hear heaven calling from the distance
Hold on I'm coming soon
I can hear heaven calling far beyond me
I wanna come home to You

I take a breath and let it out
My life is a ship that's gonna go down
I'm ready now
A new sound
The choirs of angels are singing out
A song that's real, a song that's true
A song that makes me wanna go there soon
Oh, I wanna come home to You

I keep my heart open
I keep my eyes looking to the sky
I keep my ears listening
'Cause I believe one day I will fly

I can hear heaven calling from the distance
Hold on I'm coming soon
I can hear heaven calling far beyond me
I wanna come home to You