

Light Of Dawn

Matthew Parker

I'm a runaway
I hit the road, got lost
When I said "forget this"
No matter what the cost
Imma do my own thing
Imma live my own life
And now I'm far away
And lost in the night

I remember the good times
In the places where the sun shined
But I've been here in the dark so long
And all I wanna see is the light of dawn

Never thought I would be this far gone
Never thought it would come to this
Never thought it would end up all wrong
Never thought I would run the risk of Being so lost that I don't know which way
So I can't see my left from my right
Fighting to stay alive in a war
So cold, I swear, I can see my breath in the night
Death in my sight
Wish I could turn back the hands of time
And stay on the path
That was laid out for me to walk on
I need to lock on something because that's my way out
But I've been here in the dark so long
And all I wanna see is the light of dawn

I'm tired of my dark dark life
I can't stay here anymore
I want the sun to set my soul on fire
Show me the way and I'll walk through the door
I'll walk through the door to the light of dawn
