

New Light

Matthew Parker

Twilight on the bed
Scattering my thoughts in the constellations
I saw you on the causeway
But clearly my mind is on vacation
'Cause you were gone with the sea breeze
But I won't cry over sweet dreams
Reassured 'cause you're out there
Past the night air

I can see a new light
Swirling with the stars in the moonlight
Something tells me you'll be alright
Dance on the clouds in your new light, your new light
(I can see a new light)

Cruising on the highway
Just like we did in the heat of summer
Cruelly reminded
I can't call you up though I have your number
But I can smile in the sunlight
Where the noon transforms into midnight
Fall out the corner of my eye
Such a beautiful sight

I can see a new light
Swirling with the stars in the moonlight
Something tells me you'll be alright
Dance on the clouds in your new light, your new light
(I can see a new light)

(New light)

I can see a new light
Swirling with the stars in the moonlight
Something tells me you'll be alright
Dance on the clouds in your new light, your new light

Something tells me you'll be alright
