Survivors

Matthew West

You've been dropped like a dream to the floor You've been told not to try anymore But you're wakened from yesterday's war Cause you're a survivor

And your strength has been stolen away And your faith has been worn to a fray But you live to live on one more day Cause you're a survivor

And nothing can stop you now Nothing can back you down You never give up You never give in You're a survivor

For the phone call that tore you apart For the fear that gripped your heart For the moment you saw who you are And what you're made of

For the cancer that stole all your hair For the smile like you just don't care For your hope in midnight prayer You're a survivor

And nothing can stop you now Nothing can back you down You never give up You never give in You're a survivor

I'm convinced neither death nor life Neither demons or angels of light Shadows present a future bright Can seperate us

From the love that will lead us on To the hope when all hope is gone Til the day heaven calls us home We are survivors

And nothing can stop us now Nothing can back us down We never give up We never give in

And nothing can stop us now Nothing can back us down We never give up We never give in Cause we are survivors

We are
We are
Yeah
We are survivors

We are survivors
