Falling Again

Maverick Sabre

6 AM, summer breeze,
I'm drunk again, so I don' feel
Honesty, is what I need,
I lost a friend, he lost a dream
Tell me what the faces on paper say,
Tell me if they're calling you by your name
Tell me does the thought keep you wide awake,
Burning inside but your caught in these lies and you say,

This time I hope that I've loved cause I've lost,
I build up these walls so my heart takes no more,
Giving too much, is never enough
It's never been done

Oh I keep on falling again
No matter what I try
Only keep on caught in the flames
Yeah near a hundred times
When everyone has waltzed out,
When I'm all by myself,
I'm gone live through this hell,
Don't you know Imma keep on falling again

8 AM, back to bed,
Remembering the bitter end,
Your apathy, showed you to be
More empty than I'd ever thought
Now its better that you gone,
I'd rather be alone,
You'll never even know, the devil you've become,
Left you to dwell in that lost little head
Oh the fool and your pictures just make you pretend that

This time I hope that I've loved cause I've lost,
I build up these walls so my heart takes no more,
Giving too much, is never enough
It's never been done

Oh I keep on falling again
No matter what I try
Only keep on caught in the flames
Yeah near a hundred times
When everyone has waltzed out,
When I'm all by myself,
I'm gone live through this hell,
Don't you know Imma keep on falling again

When everyone has waltzed out,
When I'm all by myself,
I'm gone live through this hell,
Don't you know Imma
When everyone has waltzed out,
When I'm all by myself,
I'm gone live through this hell,
Don't you know imma

Keep on falling again

No matter what I try
Only keep on caught in the flames
Yeah near a hundred times
When everyone has waltzed out,
When I'm all by myself,
I'm gone live through this hell,
Don't you know Imma keep on falling again
