

It's like everybody's got a money, attachment to it and you think you don't but you do. Yep. Like if I said: "Lemme slug you in the face". You would laugh and go "Oh that's ridiculous". "Oh lemme give you a hundred dollars, to slug you in the face". Even a thousand dollars, I mean why would you, that's ridiculous.

"Lemme give you twenty-five thousand dollars, to slug you in the face." And now what happens? Now you go "hahaha, deal". "But does he really have it?" but now you're thinking about it. Yeah. I'll tell you what, let's end this. I'll give you fifty thousand dollars, to slug you in the face. Now you're going, "Where will you hit me, when do I get the money?" Y'know, now you're negotiating. You've already accepted this. In a short period of time I've taken you from: "What're you kidding I'm-the-this is a stupid idea" to "It's possible". So when you think of that little, example, Yeah, with no other anxiety coming down on your life, that you could change. Just like that
