

Sometimes

Max Frost

Well, sometimes all my emotions
Go firing like explosions
I'm caught up in the moment sometimes
Yeah, sometimes you can't stop running
But catching up to nothing
I need someone to love me sometimes

Got the show, the show that I was born with
And this all, feeling like I'm hopeless
And it's all way too much to cope with
So tell me right now, now, now

I'm waiting on a sign
That something's gonna save me now
But everything I try
Some buildings going down, down, down

Well, sometimes all my emotions
Go firing like explosions
I'm caught up in the moment sometimes
Yeah, sometimes you can't stop running
But catching up to nothing
I need someone to love me sometimes

Yeah, do you feel, feel like no one knows you?
And you got nobody to run to
In this cold world that you were born to Tell me right now, now, now

Which way you know you're mine
Is something gonna break you now?
You know you gotta try
Try when it's going down, down, down

Well, sometimes all my emotions
Go firing like explosions
I'm caught up in the moment sometimes
Yeah, sometimes you can't stop running
But catching up to nothing
I need someone to love me sometimes

'Cause all I know is I can't make it by myself
Wish I was someone else sometimes
Yeah, all I know is I can't make it by myself
Wish I was someone else sometimes

Well, sometimes all my emotions
Go firing like explosions
I'm caught up in the moment sometimes
Yeah, sometimes you can't stop running
But catching up to nothing
I need someone to love me sometimes
