

Can't Hide Light

Max McNow

I heard that the news wasn't good
Hard times just keep getting harder
You ran 'bout as fast as you could
But that finish line keeps getting farther
It's easy to curse at the sky
And don't nobody would blame you
But there at the end of the line
There's a glimpse of hope waiting to break through

Like the moon shining down in a pitch black sky
Like a flickering flame in the dead of night
Your heart will grow tired and the darkness will try
But you can't hide light

There's emptiness between every star
It's easy to go and get lost in Waiting on some sort of spark
That can give you the fire to keep fighting

Like the moon shining down in a pitch black sky
Like a flickering flame in the dead of night
Your heart will grow tired and the darkness will try
But you can't hide light

Know it's feeling like a million miles away
Hold on, give it time, light will find a way
Know it's feeling like a million miles away
Hold on, give it time, light will find a way
Know it's feeling like a million miles away
Hold on, give it time, light will find a way

Like the moon shining down in a pitch black sky
Like a flickering flame in the dead of night
Your heart will grow tired and the darkness will try
But you can't hide light
No, you can't hide light
