

It's 2 am inside my room
I like awake, still making moves
Oh, where will I lie next year?
Who will lay here next to you?
It's 5 am, I'm still in bed
No sleep, I wrote this song instead
Can't plan it all, ain't got the truth
Knew it all 'fore I knew you

She said, "Look at me, baby
Do you wanna have this baby?"
Will she still be my baby if I say no?

And darling, where do we go?
Do we make this a home?
Do you think that we're grown enough to make this a home?
Darling, where do we go
Do we make this a home
Do you think that we're grown enough to make this a home?

It's 9 am, I'm picking names
A boy or girl, it's all the same, yeah
So stay here or move away
Little house for just us three
It's 10 am, go grab that test
Walk through the drug store, she's a mess
She's scared as hell, is it too late?
Are we ready now or should we wait?

I said, "Look at me, baby
Do you wanna have this baby?
I'll still be your baby if you say no"

And darling, where do we go?
Do we make this a home?
Do you think that we're grown enough to make this a home?
Darling, where do we go
Do we make this a home
Do you think that we're grown enough to make this a home?
Won't you sing it out

I may not be the best father
But I'll try my hardest
You can grab my hand harder
I promise I won't let go

And darling, where do we go?
Do we make this a home?
Do you think that we're grown enough to make this a home?
Darling, where do we go
Do we make this a home
Do you think that we're grown enough to make this a home?
